He came to Hopkinsville eight or ten years ago and has been a consistent party man. He is a red-hot Goebel man, a Mason, a Knight of Pythias and a member of the Christian church. He has a strong following and will make a hustling contest for the nomination, which is equivalent to an election. If elected he will make a good councilman.

The many friends and acquaintances of N. B. Dicken will be agreeably surprised to learn that he is now a Benedict says the Pembroke Review.

On last Wednesday Mr. Dicken was married to Dr. Annie Prine, of Louisville. The Journal joins Mr. Dicken's numerous other friends in wishing him and his bonny bride much happiness all through life.

Tail Holt on Both Tickets.

WILL DROP FLAT

Efforts to Lead Kentucky Democrats into a Bolt.

LOYAL MEN FULLY AROUSED.

Sinister Motives of Dissenters Dragged into the Glare of Public Print.

EDITORS REVIEW THE SITUATION.

Never Before in the History of the State Did the Party Have a Candidate So Thoroughly in Sympathy With the Masses as is the Hon. William Goebel—Press a Unit For the Gallant Leader.

The efforts being made to lead the loyal Democrats of Kentucky into a bolt against their splendid state ticket will fail flat. Loyal party men are thoroughly aroused all over the state, and see to it that the sinister motives of the dissenters are made known to all. Never in the history of the state did the party nominate a candidate so thoroughly in sympathy with the masses or so explicitly committed to measures which promises relief to the overburdened taxpayer, as Hon. William Goebel, and the attacks made upon him at present are sure to recoil upon the heads of his defamers.

The Democratic newspaper press of the state is almost a unit for the Louisville ticket. Past records of the bolters are daily being dragged into the glare of the sun, one and all, in the dark as to the designs of the men who would destroy the party organization of the state and cause the Chicago platform principles and Bryan to go down in defeat.

From the newspapers over the state the following extracts on the situation have been gleaned:

BROWN'S CANDIDACY.

His Chief Aim is to Weaken the Democratic Ticket.

The effort that is being made to lead Democrats into a bolt against their state ticket is an attempt to disrupt the Democratic party, and to successful end it, to nominate a candidate to defeat Bryan in Kentucky next year. That is never before in the history of the state that a candidate so thoroughly in sympathy with the masses of the people, or so explicitly committed to the measures which promises relief. People who want cheap books for your children? Shippers, are you in favor of enlarging the powers of the railroad commission so as to enable it to prevent extortion and discrimination, or do you want the railroads to enjoy such immunity as will enable them to impose rates and the imposition of rates that will rob you, and subject you to the payment of the highest freight rates that the traffic commissioners are commanding? Want the right to compete in shipping your products and all the profits that are justly yours besides?

With the stand for the enactment and enforcement of statutes intended to provide cheaper books for your children, the book trafficking robbers of the state of $200,000 last year, and the limitation of the powers of the common carriers of the state to rob you, but the most important of all, making gambling a felony, and of the statute which crushed the life of the lottery octopus.

John Goebel, the bolter, is not in reality an aspirant for governor. He is posing as a candidate against Goebel, while in fact Joe Blackburn is the man who is to be elected. Every one knows that Brown can not possibly hope to be elected governor. His candidacy can but be one effort, namely, to make the Democratic ticket and make the election of a Republican governor and legislature possible.

The deal for Brown to be the bolters and the railroad commission, and then, a reward for his perfidy and treachery, his party this year, is the election of Hon. Joe Brown United States senator over Joe Blackburn. Is it possible that Mr. Brown can stoop so low as this?—Jacksonville Hustler, Aug. 4.

SCHOOLBOOK BILL.

A Study of the Reforms Proposed by the Clinton Measure.

In view of the fact that this is the season of the year when the common schools of the county are beginning the fall terms, and parents and guardians are buying new books for their children, the words, now is the good time for them to make a practical study of the reforms proposed in the Clinton measure, and to be fully indoctrinated by the Democratic state platform and condemned by the Republican state platform.

The bill has passed by the Democrats of both branches of the last legislature, and would be a law today but for the veto of Governor Bradley. It is the desire of the most patriotic bolters of Kentucky that it is not the law now, but it will be the law next year just as certainly as Goebel is elected governor and legislature. The time is ripe for conclusion, because when the people of Kentucky have made themselves thoroughly familiar with the reforms proposed by the Clinton measure, then form they will rally to the standard of the party advocating them in such numbers as will sweep the Republicans off their feet. The popularity for Goebel so large and overwhelming that no attempt by the book traffickers can stop it. The general assembly will be worth trying.

The question of cheaper schoolbooks for the children of Kentucky is one that concerns every man, woman or child in the commonwealth, and the most surprising thing to us is that anybody—Democrats, Republicans, or any other party—should be opposed to any measure affording any relief whatever in that direction. We do not believe the rank and file of either party are in favor of any measure when they are familiar with the provisions of the bill, and before this campaign is over it will not be the fault of the Democrats if they are not reunited with the reforms in this direction advocated in the Democratic platform.

In the first place the Clinton bill provides that a law, within 60 days after the bill becomes a law, the governor shall appoint a commission of seven citizens of Kentucky who shall be chosen with due reference to their moral, ardent and business qualifications, one member to be chosen from each appellate district and not more than three of them to be chosen from the same political party. This commission shall be known as the "Kentucky School Commission." Their term of office shall be for four years, and their compensation shall be $5 per day and traveling expenses while in the actual discharge of their duties. No session of the commission shall exceed 20 days in one time. As soon as the commission shall have been selected the superintendent of public instruction shall advertise for bids from all reliable publishing houses in the United States for furnishing books for the schools for the current term for five years, each bid to be accompanied with a sample of the book or books proposed to be published and a deposit of $500 with the amount of the bid. The failure to enter into a contract with the state of their bid is accepted. The bids shall be made in the name of the state of Kentucky, and the books to be furnished: the price at which they are supplied to dealers and the price at which the dealer is to sell them, the price at which the dealer is to sell all books now in use in the public schools of the state to be taken in exchange for new books, and the price books to be sold at retail. These prices, as compared with the prices now being paid for books of the same class, are as follows:

Amount to be paid by Clinton bill $2.02

This saving of $2.92 applies to every child in the state of Kentucky, and amounts to hundreds of thousands of dollars. No one can afford to pay $2.92 for a child. There are in the public schools of this country, in round numbers, 8,000 children. A saving of $2.92 on each child means a saving of $23,520 to the state of Kentucky, or the common schools of Barren county alone.

This one plank in the Democratic platform is strong enough to insure the election of the state ticket by an overwhelming majority, and we believe when the people are made thoroughly familiar with the questions at issue between the parties they will give the ticket headed by Goebel the largest majority received by a candidate since the war—Glasgow News, Aug. 8.

ATTACK ON GOEBEL.

Greed Masquerading Behind a Cloak to Escape Destruction.

The misunderstanding of the character, both public and private, of William Goebel that exists in the state to-day is the result of a crusade months ago, and has been executed without regard to decency, justice or truth. A few powerful and special interests, who are the leaders of the party, and who have been instrumental in Goebel's being a candidate, and in his intellectual force and his indomitable purpose, they were perfectly familiar with his life and stand as a活潑的 champion of the interests of the people against all schemes of plunder and injustice, and they noted with alarm the fact that Goebel was becoming more and more popular, and that he was exerting influence. Goebel is never slow to recognize the hand that will take it by the throat, and early takes it, and when he does, he always turns it down its face. When it became known that Goebel would become a candidate for governor, there was arranged by these same interests a scheme of slander and misrepresentation such as was never seen or heard before. It was never intended, he was never intended to be nominated, it could not be prevented; it was never intended, if nominated, he would be elected. Fair or foul, it could be prevented; it was never intended, he would be elected. Fair or foul, it could be prevented; it was never intended the Louisville convention should be a peaceful one. If Goebel was to be elected, there should be no unity among Democrats if Goebel should be nominated. These things were to be done, and set in motion the advance of the convention as was the fact of Goebel's being a candidate. It is not denied that a great many exerted themselves to accomplish this, and believed, and perhaps now believe, that the turbulence of the Louisville convention was what was to blame for Goebel's being elected. Goebel was under this delusion may vote against him, when the real facts are that the word "treacherous" is the best word to describe the political bunglers who are the lot of political buccaneers as a cunning mask, behind which to plot and deceive and mislead the people. General and specific wickedness, he is compelled to meet and dispense, but every specific charge affecting Goebel's integrity has been successfully met and denied.

After birth of each child I grew weaker and hearing so much of the good you had done, I wrote to you and have taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, one box of Lozenges, one box of Liver Pills, one package of Sanative Wash, and today I am writing to you again.

When I get up in the morning I feel as fresh as I did when a girl and eat and sleep well and do all of my work. If ever I feel weak again shall know where to get my strength. I know your medicine cured me."—MRS. SALINA ARCHAMBO, CHARLESTON, MASS.

The present Mrs. Pinkham's experience in treating female ills is unparalleled; for years she worked side by side with Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, and for sometime past has had sole charge of her great business, treating by letter as many as a hundred thousand ailing women a year. All women who suffer are invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for advice, which will be promptly given without charge.

and has the cordial support. This crusade of slander and misrepresentation is not the result of the passions aroused by ordinary or even extraordinary political agitation. It has a deeper, more subtle, and more malignant origin than that. The those not blinded by the dust raised and not defeated by the smoke made by the Goebel forces, will appear that all the imbeciles of this country of us are but the cloak of this scoundrel who was masquerading to save himself from destruction. It is nearly always safe rule to judge of a man by the character of his enemies and his opponents. Let the people inquire who are the real enemies of Goebel in this fight, the enemies, not who make a noise, but who furnish the money and brains to compass his defeat, and they will not hesitate a moment to rally to his standard.—Bardstown Record, Aug. 11th.

TEACHERS ROBBED.

Mary McChesney Unearths a Republican Steal, in His Paper.

The school fund per capita last year was $2.30; this year it is $2.70. We have been asked for an explanation of this. It is very simple and easily explained. The state auditor's report as to the source from which this year's fund is derived, show that $265,242.09 is "balance from last year." There were last year in round numbers 700,000 pupil children in the state. Dividing the $265,242.09 by 709,000, we have a quotient of about 37 cents. This 37 cents, due every child in the state last year, should have been paid last year, and the per capita should have been $2.67 instead of $2.30. Why was it held back? Simply to raise the per capita this year because a campaign is on. In other words, the Republican administration stole $265,242.09 from the teachers of last year and are paying it to the teachers of this year in the hope of gaining votes. If every teacher in the state were to teach the same school this year he taught last, he would get the money—a year after it was due him—but they do not all succeed themselves, and about fifteen per cent. of those who taught last year do not teach at all this year; this class has been robbed outright.

It has become so accustomed to Republican thefts that we thought nothing they might do could surprise us, but we must confess that the audacity of this steal takes our breath away; it is about the coolest piece of robbery ever perpetrated in the commonwealth. The 119 counties of the state were each robbed of $2,228 on an average. The little county of Livingston was "held up" to the tune of $1,406, or each district on an average was defrauded of a little more than $24.

Another remarkable feature of the case is that, after holding the fund back last year and for three years previous, and dumping it all into this year's fund, they still fall short fifteen cents of what the per capita was when they took charge four years ago. It was then $2.85. It only takes a little figuring just here to show that with the per capita up to $2.70 this year there is still the neat little sum of $1,400,000 unaccounted for in the four years on the basis of a per capita of $2.85, which the Democratic administration paid its last year.

We are at loss to know how a decent Republican can vote for the Bill Taylor gang again with facts like these staring him in the face.—Smithland Banner.

Questions Plainly Answered.

H. R. Coleman, of No. 1419 West Chestnut street, Louisville, Ky., recently sent a letter to Rev. R. L. West, one of our oldest and best Methodist ministers, and a life-long and untirred Democrat. Mr. Coleman's explanation of his purpose in sending the letter was as follows:

"As the excitement over the State involves a great moral question, and as favoring the man is an endorsement of his methods as well as himself, my object is to ascertain how each minister of the different denominations stands on present political issues."

The questions below were by Mr. Coleman and the answers by Rev. West.

1st. For whom are you for Governor?

Answer: For William Goebel against the world, the flesh and the devil.

2nd. What are your views on the political situation in our State?

Ans. That if we don't get the State out of the hands of anti-Goebelists we are ruined.

3rd. What seems to be the preference within the scope of your knowledge?

Ans. All for Goebel.

4th. Do you favor the repeal of the Goebel law?

Ans. No.

5th. Are you in favor of an honest ballot and a fair count?

Ans. Yes.

the Goebel law was intended to or calculated to secure either?

Ans. I do.

5th. Will you accept some literature and pass same to the hands of others, etc.?

Ans. I will not, and if sent will refuse to take it out of the postoffice.

At this point, having frankly answered all of Coleman's questions, Rev. West puts this question to his interlocutor:

"Are you not a Republican or gold bug, and are you not paid to do this dirty work—a you a preacher?"—Clinton Democrat.

STOLE A STEER.

One of the Thieves Said to be a Hopkinsville Darkey.

Will Browder, charged with the theft of a steer last Friday, waived examination before Judge Harris this morning and was held for the grand jury. His alibi accomplices, Phineas Washington and Clint Ball, took continuances until Saturday and will take a preliminary trial. They are represented by M. A. Ruggles. When the last two named prisoners were first arrested they said they were tramp bootblacks from Louisville and that Browder had waked them up in the middle of the night to go with him on the stealing expedition. Now it is found that they have never been in Louisville, that one of them is from Hopkinsville, and Browder says that they, and not he, put up the job. It is believed that the testimony has to give will implicate them more completely than their first declarations indicated.—Henderson Journal.

ENRAGED BEYOND MEASURE.

To Think They Cannot Buy or Steal Kentucky Next Year.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 23.—Republican leaders of the State are planning a fight to test the Goebel election law in the Supreme Court of the United States. If the law is still in force in the fall of 1900 Republican leaders say a way can be devised in the Congressional election to get the law in the Supreme Court of the United States for a hearing. These plans have been guarded as a party secret.

FIVE FEET LONG

Is the Hair Of This Ohio County Girl.

Beaver Dam, Ky., Aug. 21.—Miss Bertha Ambrose, daughter of Mr. J. M. Ambrose, of near Beda, this county, is the proud possessor of raven black hair which drags on the ground, and she is five feet four inches tall. At this season of the year she finds her luxuriant tresses quite uncomfortable. Miss Ambrose is seventeen years of age, pretty and attractive.

Saved by His Dog.

Cynthiana, Ky., August 22.—Mr. Albert Phillips can credit a dog with having saved his life. While he was escorting some ladies across a field a vicious bull attacked him, knocking him down against a stone fence and butting and pawing him. The animal had recently been dehorned, else Mr. Phillips would have been killed.

He had several ribs broken and was badly bruised. A small dog attacked the bull, catching the animal by the hind leg and thus diverting its attention long enough for Mr. Phillips to escape with his life. His condition is serious.

Married Only a Few Hours.

Guthrie, Okla., Aug. 23.—A short honeymoon was spent here. P. V. Jobe, of Pawnee, and Miss Mabel Payton, of Warfield, were married in the morning. In the afternoon it was noticed that the groom was under the influence of liquor, and when he retired to his room he sat down and fell asleep. The bride made no attempt to arouse him. When he awoke two hours later she had been to a lawyer's office and began action for divorce.

Three things to avoid—idleness, loquacity and flippant jesting.

Ans. I do.

5th. Will you accept some literature and pass same to the hands of others, etc.?

Ans. I will not, and if sent will refuse to take it out of the postoffice.

At this point, having frankly answered all of Coleman's questions, Rev. West puts this question to his interlocutor:

"Are you not a Republican or gold bug, and are you not paid to do this dirty work—a you a preacher?"—Clinton Democrat.

FOR COUNCILMAN.

We are authorized to announce that Joe N. Fowright, as a candidate for the office of City Councilman from the Seventh ward, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

Charlie Lewis has apologized to Dr. Kerfoot, but Dr. Kerfoot has not yet apologized to Mr. Goebel.

Ex-Congressman Bill Owens, who was a Democrat prior to 1896, will speak at Owensboro September 2 in support of the bolters.

The followers of the John Brown of 1859 were reburied at Elba, N.Y., yesterday. The followers of the John Brown of 1899 will be buried Nov. 7.

Jno. R. McLean has more than enough instructed votes to nominate and his nomination for Governor of Ohio will be made on the first ballot at to-day's convention.

More than thirty Democratic orators were on the stump for Goebel yesterday, Mr. Goebel himself speaking at Bowling Green. Col. W. R. Howell, of this city, spoke at Edmonton, Metcalfe county.

The Louisville Dispatch is beginning the public to circulate petitions asking Brown to get off, though his campaign is only two weeks old. The same paper wants Goebel to get off, but Goebel knew the Dispatch was against him when he got on and it made no change in his business.

O'Neal and Davis, two Louisville bolters, are to be replaced by Democrats on the Jefferson county election board and the Post is already mooting about their "removal." As a matter of fact their terms expire next month and as they are supporting a platform denouncing the election law they have no right to expect to be retained on a commission whose duty is to properly enforce the law. No law, however good, can be safely committed into the hands of its enemies. Kick them out without ceremony.

The Brown speaking at Bowling Green drew a crowd of 500 or 600 people, according to the estimates of the Times and Courier-Journal, though the Post put the crowd at 800. Of these, 400 were excursionists from other counties, out for a good time at somebody else's expense. The ex-Governor has cooled off considerably since his Lexington effort and was not running with a hot tox. He admitted that he told Charlie McChord he would accept the nomination of the Louisville convention, but said he assured him that the nomination must be independent of the disputed delegations. A good portion of his speech was an attack on Joe Blackburn, the nominee for Senator.

TIAN.

In his speech at London, Attorney General Taylor attempted to reply to Senator Goebel's charges that there were Republican frauds and violations of the election laws in the mountains and in Christian county in 1896. In discussing this county he said:

As to Christian county, the record shows that in 1896 the republican ticket received 3,637 votes, the democratic ticket received 2,515; in 1896 the republican ticket received 4,525, the democratic ticket 3,135; a Republican gain of 24 per cent, and Democratic gain of 30 per cent. These figures refute the libelous indictment against the people of Christian county.

The facts in Christian county cannot be disposed of by this little problem in "percentage."

The KENTUCKIAN pointed out at the time and re-iterates now that the election boards of 1896 were packed against Bryan wherever it could be done. Of the 112 election officers, only 46 were Democrats, and many of those were of doubtful standing or submissive characters. The Democrats had only 22 judges in 28 precincts.

Five good men against Bryan and one Populist were judges in 6 other districts, with a straight Republican in every district. This left Bryan without a judge in five of the largest precincts in the county, counting the Populist a Bryan man.

Of the 28 clerks, 19 were Democrats, some very weak-kneed ones, six were Republicans, three gold men for McKinley and one a Populist for Bryan. This gave McKinley the clerks in nine precincts.

Of the 28 Sheriffs, the Republicans had 23 and the Democrats five, and of that few were not strict party men.

The officers were so divided that the Democrats were absolutely without a voice in passing upon doubtful votes.

Now for the figures. In the 1895 vote when Bradley carried the county by more than 1200 pluralities, the total vote was about 6600. The Democrats had about 2,500 and the Populists 200. In 1896 these forces were united and the Bryan total vote was increased from 2,700 to 3,145, a very natural and easily explained increase.

How about the Republicans? Bradley's vote of 3,600 in 1895 was swelled in 1896 to 4,525, an increase of nearly 1,000 votes. The total vote in the county was 7,800, or from 500 to 700 more than there were voters on the assessor's books and more than 1,000 more than were ever before cast in the county.

The increase was almost entirely in the negro precincts, where strange negroes were voted in gangs, all taught to give in the same story that they had been in the "deedest" sense the first week in September.

Many of these negroes have never been seen here since.

They were floaters dumped into this county from other counties and from over the Tennessee line and permitted to vote over the violent protests of the challengers and other representatives of the Democratic party powerless to prevent these frauds.

These facts are so well known in this county that they cannot be truthfully denied.

In 1897 the county election was at stake and the division of officers was still worse. Only 40 Democrats out of 112 officers were appointed that year and many of them were floaters of at least a part of the Democratic ticket. In one of the city precincts every voter voted against the council ticket and in other precincts it was almost as bad.

But that year the floaters were not here in such large numbers and Bailey only carried the county by 600 or 700 and a part of the county Republican ticket narrowly escaped defeat. The Democrats started to bring contests in two races, but the canvassing board, composed of three Republicans, refused to let the contestants be represented even by an attorney at the official canvass, which was in "executive session." The Democrats to this good day do not know how many of any doubtful ballots were returned, or how they were disposed of. To the credit of one member of the canvassing board, who was himself a candidate for re-election to a county office, it must be said that he consented to let an attorney be present at the count, but the other two refused and went into "executive session." It is not charged that frauds were committed by this board, but their ruling was partisan and unfair. Having no way of finding out what irregularities were reported by the election officers, the contestants were forced to abandon the proposed contests and quietly submit.

Last year for the first time in years the election in Christian county was fairly held. The officers were appointed according to law, and no man of any party has been found to charge that there was any partisan unfairness.

In that election the Republican majority was only 550.

A PREACHER'S REASONS.

"Yes, I favor Goebel," writes the Rev. Wm. Stanley, a well known Central Kentucky minister.

"First, because we need a brave, calm and wise man in the present turbulent condition of the party, and rebellious attitude of lawless citizens.

"Second, because he is the author of a measure or law that alone could secure to Democracy its rightful supremacy that had been wrested from it by Republican fraud.

"Third, because he is a temperate man, able, consistent and ever loyal to party and principles.

"Fourth, I am enthusiastic for him chiefly because he is the unadmitted friend and knightly champion of humanity betrayed, plundered, profaned and disdained. Because he is tongue-tongued with censure of the world's blind greed, and dares to denounce and defy the power and perfidy of corporations and trusts. Because he is the friend of the oppressed. Because he is too true and too brave ever to be placed in a position to meanly and sneakingly smile when the services of true Democracy and Republicans praise."

Mr. August Belmont, of New York, has written a letter to Senator Goebel, taking him to task for some of his statements about the L. & N. and explaining the position of the road of which he is a heavy stockholder in the present campaign. The following is an extract from his letter:

"The corporation, under the management of Milton H. Smith, as President, and the other officers of the company, including the Board of Directors and myself, has no other duty in view than that of conducting the L. & N. railroad as a business enterprise and we can only do this by preserving the integrity of the territories which it serves and promoting the welfare of those who use it as a means of transportation. If, in order to gain adherents to your political alibit in the State, you endeavor to create a prejudice of the people against the L. & N. railroad, and try to excite the Legislature to destroy or obstruct its interests, the L. & N. railroad is driven to take the best means within the law and its right to meet such attacks, and this is now doing by bringing before the public the arguments which are at its command to counteract the evil influences of your unjustifiable hostility."

Many of these negroes have never been seen here since.

They were floaters dumped into this county from other counties and from over the Tennessee line and permitted to vote over the violent protests of the challengers and other representatives of the Democratic party, saying a vote for Brown was half a vote for Taylor and those who did not want to vote for Taylor could help in the same direction by voting for Brown. His speech was a political attack that is worrying Republicans and Brownies alike. It opened the eyes of some hesitating Democrats who are now strong Goebel men.

September is the month for fishing and outdoor sports, and is the beginning of the hunting season in Canada and Maine. Scribner's for September has a number of articles with an outdoor flavor to them. It opens with an account by Frederic Island of what he calls "the finest canoeing country in the world." He made a five hundred mile journey from Mattawa to the head waters of the Ottawa and Gatineau rivers, through a region abounding in fish and moose. It has been for centuries and is now the home of the Algonquin Indian. The region through which Mr. Island travelled with Algonquins for guides is the best sportman's haunt left in America. Much of the wilderness is as yet uncharted. The illustrations are made from the author's abundant photographs. He will be remembered as the author of two former articles in Scribner's, one on New Brunswick and the other on the Mingan Seigniory.

The September issue of The Ladies' Home Journal is an unusually attractive number. On the first page is given a series of pictures of "The Wayside Inn of Sudbury Town," made famous by Longfellow. Barton Cheyne contributes an instructive article on "The Young Man and the Professions," telling young men how to take up the study of law, medicine, architecture, White Wyandottes.

The White Wyandotte is a good-sized blocky bird, especially well furnished with meat in the breast—just where it is required for table purposes. In addition to this the yellow skin and white pen feathers make them a fine market fowl. Being a small-boned fowl, their weight is in the meat, as compared with fowls of heavier frame. For broilers and roasters they lead, as they are hardy, chicks grow fast, and they stand forcing well. In this particular they gain a point on the Plymouth Rocks, which are very liable to leg weakness during forcing.

We find with our birds that until the chicks weigh about a pound or a pound and a half, they grow very few feathers, their gain being in their plump bodies. Chicks that grow in this manner are harder and grow faster than those that exhaust their strength by feathering out early. The pullets mature early not frequently laying at five months. They are the best layers of their class of fowls, thus gaining another point on their nearest competitors, the Plymouth Rocks.

By the time the fowls reach the laying age they should be carefully selected for next years breeders, culling out all birds with single combs, feathered legs, etc., with the same care that a fancier would use, for when you are through breeding next season you can get a fair price for them from fanciers, especially those who are beginning and want good stock at a low price.

The culls, both males and females should be fattened for the next two weeks, then sent to market. If, as should be the case, you have nothing but good, pure stock, you can realize a good return by selling your surplus males as breeders, if you do not charge too great a price. We have found that there is a good demand for White Wyandotte breeding males at about a dollar and a half or two dollars.

We do not advise breeding Wyandottes much over standard weight. So far as our experience goes, matings in which the birds were much over weight have not given general satisfaction.

A point of considerable advantage to breeders of limited room is the fact that the Wyandottes stand confinement well. We believe that our experience enables us to assert the White Wyandottes to be the best all-round fowl.—Reliable Poultry Journal.

How He Knew The Score.

A couple of Topeka poultrymen were going out on the street car the other evening, and were talking chickens at a good lively rate. A stranger sitting across the aisle, who they claimed was a preacher, became much interested in their conversation, and the three got to talking. In fact, even the motorcar, who was also a chicken crank, was keeping his weather eye turned towards them.

The stranger said he had some mighty good birds—had one Plymouth Rock cock that scored 97 points. Our friends became quite interested in their new found acquaintance, and asked him where he got such a good bird. "Oh, just picked him up," said he, "I got him for a dollar."

"Ninety-seven points is a pretty good score for a White Rock, isn't it?" queried the poultrymen. "Who scored your bird, and where was he scored?"

"Don't know," replied the preacher.

The result was a division of the spoils. The cat ran away with one of the kittens, while the hen remained in possession of the two others. A member of the family discovered the hen's theft, however, and restored the kittens to their real mother.

The old hen made such a time about it that she had to be fastened up in a coop.—Kennebec

How to Clip the Wings.

There is a right and a wrong way to clip the wings of a fowl. Mr. T. S. McGillivray, in farming, expresses his views of the subject as follows:

"We hope to be pardoned for saying that, if there is a marked stupidity among the fraternity, it is the usual way we find fanciers clipping birds' wings, including poultry. This stupidity is not confined to the novice alone, but we find it in old poultry fanciers. The old instruction solemnly spoken was, 'Clip only one wing, so that the bird cannot balance. If it clips the two it can fly.' This advice has gone from mouth to ear for generations given by wise acres whose information is all founded on antiquated hearsay, and who never investigate for themselves. The average fancier clips the wing while it is closed. In this way one cannot help not only disfiguring the bird, but the heavy warm feathers which grow on the half of the wing next to the body, and which nature intends more as a coverlet to keep the bird warm than to assist in flight, are removed. Right under this warm coverlet of feathers is the lung, and when this part of the wing has been removed, there is nothing to protect the lung, and it may be noticed that there is almost a bare spot so far as body feathers are concerned. The sleek and wet falling on the unprotected lung causes pneumonia, which is followed by a lingering death or a delicate bird.

"Experience and experiments prove that birds after a little practice fly higher and farther with only one wing clipped than with two. When only one is clipped they are apt to injure themselves by going with great force against the weakened side.

HOW TO CLIP.

"Extend the wing fully. Then cut each pinion feather between the shaft and quill from the middle of the wing to the top. Do the same with the other wing, and all is right. The bird cannot fly; he is not disfigured (in fact when walking round you could not tell that the wings were clipped); and his lungs are still protected by nature's corsets.

HOW TO PINION.

"It is generally recommended to pinion pheasants at two months old. We have performed the little operation at all ages, and never had one die from the effect.

"The operation requires no skill. It means to take a pair of scissors and clip the wings off at the first joint. The birds never seem to mind it, and in less than a week it is all healed over. This, of course, would not do for birds that were intended to be let loose in a game preserve, as they can never fly again. But for breeding stock, to be fenced in fields, it is much better than running the risk of watching and clipping their wings when necessary."

Hen Would Adopt Kittens.

An Auburn lady tells of a curious incident that came to her notice recently. A sitting hen stole away her nest, but after a day or two the nest was discovered, and the eggs were found. Soon after a cat had three little kittens found the nest and took it as a home for her young ones.

The old hen had remained on the nest part of the time, and near it all the time, and when she saw the kittens there she seemed to regard them as her progeny. At any rate she adopted them straightway, and didn't propose to let the cat have anything more to do with them. She would hover them in the nest, and cluck to them with the greatest complacency. The cat didn't want to give up her children, and the hen and the cat had a pitched battle.

The result was a division of the spoils. The cat ran away with one of the kittens, while the hen remained in possession of the two others. A member of the family discovered the hen's theft, however, and restored the kittens to their real mother.

The old hen made such a time about it that she had to be fastened up in a coop.—Kennebec

"More haste, less speed," is a proverb born of experience that some things can't be hurried without loss and waste. That is specially true of eating. You may hurry your eating, and the neglect to allow proper time for this important function is the beginning of sorrows to many a busy man. When the tongue is foul, the head rises, undue fullness after eating, hot flushes, irritability, nervousness, irresolution, cold extremities, and other annoying symptoms, be sure the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition have "broken down." Nothing will re-establish them in active healthy operation so quickly as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It stimulates the stomach, nourishes the nerves, purifies the blood, and builds up the body. It is a strictly temperance medicine containing no alcohol or other intoxicant.
